

PHILIPPINE REVOLT IS SPREADING

American Residents of the Islands Alarmed; Arming For Protection.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 4.—Reports of several attempts at rebellion in the Philippines have been minimized by the administration, but a letter from a prominent man in the islands received here by former president William Howard Taft paints the outlook in darkest colors. The armed forces have indeed so far been able to put down the insurrectionary attempts, which have developed largely from the ignorant lower classes. The upper classes of Filipinos are restless, however, even if they are still outwardly loyal to the United States.

Mr. Taft was first governor general of the islands, several years before he became president, and he has kept deepest interest in the Philippines. He does not hesitate to state his opinion that the present policy of putting natives into offices for which they are doubtfully fitted is ruinous, and in a letter, a trusted friend in the islands writes to the president:

Tremendous Change in Year.
"You can hardly have an idea without being present upon the ground, of the tremendous change that has taken place in the Philippines in one year. Business is utterly stagnant, and has been since before the war began. No new investments have come to the islands during this administration and many of those who have money there are striving to unload; I may say, however, without success.

The American community have been made to feel that they are aliens, who do not in any degree enter into the consideration of the government. There are practically no relations existing between the new and the old American community.

They scarcely ever meet anywhere, and neither seems to care to meet the other. There is practically no government and what little there is, is in the hands of the leaders of the nationalist party, notably Osmena and Palma.

Governor General Seemingly Sees.
The governor general seldom comes down to his office. In fact, during a period of five weeks I only heard of him being in his office two or three times, although during all that time the legislature was in session.

It is understood by both Americans and Filipinos that the appointments are all in reality made by the above named leaders, and the policies which they desire enacted into law are invariably approved by the American people.

"Much legislation has been passed for the appointment of a commission to strengthen the party in power; the most notable bill of all was the one which destroyed the system of courts which had been in existence for years. It absolutely did away with the land court, which, as you know, was very valuable, and created a number of new districts for the purpose of giving Osmena a number of appointments.

Mr. Denison, the secretary of the interior, is a peculiar man. He has utterly alienated all Americans and made himself the laughing stock of the Filipinos by his desire to see his name in print and by his ridiculous utterances from time to time.

Escaped Prisoners Kill American.
"The efficiency of the government has been destroyed in nearly every bureau. I might speak of bureau after bureau, but will only mention the bureau of the Philippines in one year. Business is utterly stagnant, and has been since before the war began. No new investments have come to the islands during this administration and many of those who have money there are striving to unload; I may say, however, without success.

SEARCHING OUT THE EARLY HISTORY OF THIS CONTINENT

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Under the leadership of Dr. Hiram Bingham, the National Geographic Society-Yale University Peruvian expedition sailed from New York yesterday to continue the work in the Andean Mountains in the hope of finding the key to the mysteries of the new world's past.

In a concealed valley in the high Andes of Peru, the "American Tibet," Dr. Bingham has discovered one of the lost Inca cities, which he now believes to be the famous Machu Picchu of Indian and Spanish legend, birthplace and last hidden abode of Inca power, faith, and culture. The Inca empire, which flourished from 1200 to 1532 A. D. Here in this wild, inaccessible mountain region the Peruvian expedition of 1911-12 will continue its painstaking effort to lift the veil from the pre-Columbian secrets of the western hemisphere.

The highlands of Peru contain vestiges of the most ancient and advanced cultures in South America. They hold preserved within their valleys the remains of long forgotten Indian towns and cities, ruins of roads and aqueducts, of walls, fortresses and terraces, and in these ruins is written the story of the first great civilizations of the architects, of America's earliest metallurgists and artificers in metals, clays and stone.

Bryan Passes the Buck; Tells Father to Search in Juarez for His Son

U. S. senator A. B. Fall, of New Mexico—"I am doing everything possible to obtain the release of your son."

U. S. senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas—"I have taken the matter up with the state department and urged early action."

W. J. Bryan, secretary of state—"The American consul in Juarez says your son is not held in Juarez. Suggest you consult with the consul."

Guadarrama sent urgent telegrams to Washington Wednesday morning, urging that action be taken at once to obtain the release of his son, who is an American citizen. He accompanied this with an affidavit that he had information that the El Pasoan was a prisoner in Juarez.

A young Guadarrama has been missing since Feb. 18 when he disappeared from the corner of Overland and Second streets and was said to have been kidnapped and taken to Juarez. He has a family living in El Paso.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Ladies! Men! Here's the quickest, surest dandruff cure known.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scalp. There's nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that beautiful, it will become wavy and fluffy, and have the appearance of the hair of a young man. It will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy half-new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Advertisement.
